

Overhead Sectional Doors

Andah Roller Sectional Door offer a comprehensive range of overhead sectional door options. It is available in galvanized steel with high grade polyester coating on both sides.

The door feature 40mm and 50mm think section, with triple~layer construction and superior polyurethane insulation. Item SF40S is finger protection panels with continuous thermal break and air seal between sections. Featuring engineered components and fitting the entire door is designed to provide reliable performance and years of service. As the garage door is and integral part of home's design, architecture and security, our garage door feature a range of style, colors, and potions that will be the prefect fit for your home.

- Max available panel length : 12m
- Available panel width : 440 _ 550mm, adjusted
- Available steel thickness : 0.3mm – 0.6mm

Typical Application: use in warehouses, logistic centres, shops and other production plants to ensure a high degree of insulation at the façade of the installation.